ITEM

License Agreement allows the New Haven Public Schools (NHPS) to have exclusive use of certain portions of, and shared use of certain portions of, Gateway Community College's former North Haven Campus, 88 Bassett Road, North Haven, for a term of one year, renewable for three additional terms of one year each, for $1 and payment of certain facility operating costs, as set forth in a License Agreement attached hereto, effective August 12, 2013, provided the following conditions are met: that the building and code study undertaken by the BOR Facilities office referenced below demonstrates that the building is suitable for occupancy by the Hyde School; that any upgrades or renovations required for NHPS occupancy are paid for by NHPS; and that NHPS executes the License Agreement prior to August 12, 2013.

BACKGROUND

Section 4b-38(g) of the Connecticut General Statutes provides that the "Board of Trustees," now the Board of Regents, of a constituent unit of the state system of higher education "may lease land or buildings, or both, and facilities under the control and supervision of such board when such land, buildings or facilities are otherwise not used or needed for use by the constituent unit and such action seems desirable to produce income or is otherwise in the public interest, provided the Treasurer has determined that such action will not affect the status of any tax-exempt obligations issued or to be issued by the State of Connecticut." The State of Connecticut Attorney General's Office approvals are required for lease agreements approved by the Board of Regents.

ANALYSIS

In August 2012, Gateway Community College (GCC) vacated its Long Wharf Campus located at 60 Sargent Drive in New Haven following relocation to its new main campus at 20 Church Street, New Haven.

In March 2013, the BOR authorized GCC, by and through the President of the Board of Regents, to enter into a License Agreement allowing New Haven Public Schools to use certain portions of the Long Wharf Campus. (The Agreement was executed on June 22, 2013 by the NHPS. Due to the late signing, BOR staff will not execute the agreement nor submit it to the Attorney General for approval.)

In June 2013, the BOR Facilities office conducted an assessment of the Long Wharf roof in connection with the replacement of failing rooftop ventilation equipment. The engineering firm engaged to design the replacement system (AI Engineers, Middletown, Connecticut) advised that the roof was corroded and unsafe, and that the building should not be occupied after completion of the academic year. The roof replacement alone was estimated to be in excess of three million dollars.

NHPS vacated the building following the completion of its academic year.

BOR staff, following consultation with the College, recommended that no funds be invested in Long Wharf and that the BOR President request that the building be considered surplus and disposed of in accordance with state law, policies and procedures.

Still in need of housing for the Hyde School program, NHPS inquired about the availability of space at GCC's North Haven campus. GCC's automotive program is located at the North Haven facility; however, a substantial portion of the building is vacant. As in the Long Wharf arrangement, NHPS is willing to pay a share of the facility's operating costs.

GCC and BOR staff consider shared use of the North Haven facility to be mutually beneficial in the short term by providing the Hyde School with housing and by relieving GCC of a substantial share of North Haven operating costs.

It is GCC's plan to locate the automotive program closer to the downtown campus and to have the facility sized for the automotive program.

The License Agreement term shall be for one year with three additional one-year terms. The annual rent will be one dollar.

RESOLUTION FOR FULL BOARD

Board of Regents on behalf of Gateway Community College shall enter into a License Agreement that allows the New Haven Public Schools to have exclusive use of certain portions of, and shared use of certain portions of, the North Haven Campus, 88 Bassett Road, North Haven, for a term of one year, renewable for three additional terms of one year each, for $1 and payment of certain facility operating costs, as set forth in a License Agreement attached hereto, effective August 12, 2013, provided the following conditions are met: that the building and code study undertaken by the BOR Facilities office demonstrates that the building is suitable for occupancy by the Hyde School; that any upgrades or renovations required for NHPS occupancy are paid for by NHPS; and that NHPS executes the License Agreement prior to August 12, 2013.

Biography: Dr. Carmen R. Cid

Dr. Carmen R. Cid is in her ninth year as Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences at Eastern Connecticut State University. She has 28 years of experience in higher education as a professor of Ecology, as the chair of the Biology Department at Eastern Connecticut State University and since 2005, as the Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences at Eastern. She is nationally recognized for her expertise in enhancing K-16 student and faculty recruitment and retention of women and minorities in the sciences, and development of innovative interdisciplinary programs to meet the needs of emerging careers and college transfer articulation.

As an ecologist, she founded the Women and Minorities Committee of the Ecological Society of America (ESA) in 1991 (now the ESA Committee for Diversity and Education), and helped develop the first education and human resources strategic plan for ESA. She has continued her national work in ecology education and workforce development as Chair of the Ecological Society of America's Board of Professional Certification, chair of the ESA Odum Ecology Award Committee, and now as a member of the ESA Governing Board.

Joining the Council of Colleges of Arts and Sciences (CCAS) in 2005, and now as a member of the CCAS Board of Directors, Dr. Cid co-founded and chaired the Cultural Diversity Committee and Gender Issues standing committees, developing career enhancement programming for deans, including the online CCAS web tool "Dean's Knowledge Base." For the last four years, she has been Co-Principal Investigator to the CCAS NSF-ADVANCE grant to infuse gender equity training in department chairs and deans mentoring programs, to improve recruitment, retention of women faculty and enhance leadership training for minority faculty. She continues to work nationally on providing deans with improved access to resources on best practices on faculty-student collaborative research programs, and on the dean's role in developing university-wide models of inclusive excellence for students and faculty.

At Eastern Connecticut State University, as department chair and now dean, Dr. Cid has been instrumental in enhancing the University's liberal arts core and its commitment to hands-on application of academic learning. She has led the development of new majors (Individualized Major, Sustainable Energy Studies, Biochemistry, and most recently, Women and Gender Studies); promoted undergraduate research through an annual on-campus student research conference and the expansion of international field courses in biology, history, creative writing and the arts; and led the academic programming of the new 174,000-square foot Science Building, which opened in 2008 and saw a 50+ percent increase in science majors in the next three years. She continues her statewide work for promoting the arts and sciences as board member of CONCORA, the Connecticut Choral Artists association, and on the board of directors of Windham Hospital.

Dr. Cid has also been instrumental in receiving significant grant awards at Eastern in support of economically disadvantaged and other at-risk student populations, including a U.S. Department of Education Title III grant—the first received by any four-year public university in Connecticut—and a Nellie Mae Education Foundation "Project Compass" grant.

She has received numerous state, regional, and national awards for her scholarship and her work to improve representation and career development for women and minorities in biology and ecology. Those include the Woman Achiever Award at Michigan State University in 1984; the AAUW Outstanding Women Award in 1995 from the Willimantic/Storrs, CT chapter; the 2012 Connecticut ACE Women's Network Distinguished Leadership in Higher Education Award, being named Latina Citizen of the Year in 2012 from the Latino and Puerto Rican Affairs Commission of Connecticut; and receiving the 2012 Ecological Society of America Diversity Award in appreciation of her 20 years of promoting diversity among current and future ecologists.

Dr. Cid graduated cum laude with her bachelor's degree in biology from New York University, received her master's degree in botany from Ohio State University, and earned her doctorate in plant ecology from Michigan State University. She began her teaching career in 1985 at what is now Truman State University, Missouri's public liberal arts university, moving to Eastern Connecticut State University in 1987.
